the end of World War II and the start of the Cold War. Initially focused on survival skills and evading capture, the curriculum was designed to equip military personnel, particularly pilots, with the necessary skills to survive in hostile environments. “JPRA has no Survival, Evasion, Resistance, and Escape (SERE) is a training concept originally developed by the British during World War II. The program emphasised the importance of adhering to the military code of conduct and developing techniques for escape from captivity. S. It is best known by its military acronym and prepares a range of Western forces to survive when evading or being captured. This program was extended to include the Navy and United States Air Force.”
