I was told this was a more appropriate place for the request I made here [1]. I'm not into infinite hoop-jumping, so take it for what you will, but I'm not going to invest a lot of time in follow-up to this observation. I've got better things to do with my life than wiki-lawyering. — Preceding unsigned comment added by 70.247.167.67 (talk) 03:48, 3 June 2016 (UTC) 6bfb02b75b Hello

Champion. Can you provide diffs to exemplify the edit warring and conduct that you feel is disruptive? Diffs of the moves and a fuller description of why you feel they violate conventions would also be helpful. Additionally, other than on the user's talk page, have you reached out in any talk space associated with the content in question to attempt to discuss particular matters?

There are a number of problems between Gebagebo and me. Most of them involve Gebagebo reverting my edits and pushing his own policy on the grounds of WP:NOCONSENSUS. I try not to force my edits until we reach an agreement, not just in dialogue with Gebagebo. Gebagebo probably knows this, and thinks that if he (she) shows a "no agreement" attitude, he can settle for editing to his liking. 6bfb02b75b Gebagebo is a user formerly editing under the name

A user came on the IRC help channel to ask about his block and I had a conversation with him; he consented to my pasting it here. I decline to do the unblock myself, but this is at least something for you to consider, 6bfb02b75b This user has been making disruptive changes and edit warring for quite some time now. There are several warnings on their user page and for the most part, they have seemed to ignore the warnings. Most recently, the user has been moving pages without consensus against the naming convention. The user has previously been blocked for creating inappropriate pages. - CHAMPION (talk) (contributions) (logs) 00:52, 4 July 2018 (UTC) 6bfb02b75b Second, what I see is that Cuzkatzimhut reverted your addition of a template at Dynamical pictures with the perfectly civil comment "It is detailed at mathematical length subsequently, Pls discuss in Talkpage before vandalizing."
