Description

How to get an A*DEAL EFFECTIVELY WITH THE EVALUATION PART OF THE EXAM: Contrary to popular belief, learning and memorising lots of facts and theories will not get you a grade A or B in your exam. Each topic has been broken down into exam notes which are more concise than general sociology text books but more comprehensive than standard revision guides.

AQA Sociology BRILLIANT EXAM NOTES: Beliefs in Society

The Complete Revision and Study Book This book covers the following topic for the AQA A-level sociology (Year 2): Beliefs in Society. At the end of each section, we provide a comprehensive list of exam questions. We have covered most of the different types of questions you may be asked for each topic both at AS and at A Level. These eBooks have been written by examiners and experienced teachers using their expertise to help students achieve the best possible grade in their exam. To achieve the highest grades possible, the exam requires you to be able to 'analyse' and 'evaluate' sociological knowledge, this does not mean jotting down a few brief criticisms at the end of your essay. These exam notes have been carefully written using student friendly language and a layout that students will find easy to understand. You may realise some of the questions require the same answers, but are worded differently, this was deliberate, just so you are familiar with the different way the questions could be worded. With this in mind, we have written a lot of the evaluation points using the three-step-rule: identify, expand and conclude. If you are taking the A level course, it is a good way of testing and practising both your knowledge and examination skills. This content in this book follows the latest AQA sociology specification. We have done this for you in this book to demonstrate what a 'developed' evaluation point looks like. LOTS OF EXAM QUESTIONS: We have given you lots of exam questions at the end of each exam note to practise 11b752cb15

Also discussed are global policy actors (such as the OECD, EU and edu-businesses) in education policy; the significance of international large scale assessments to an emergent global policy field; refugees and education; English language policy and globalisation; off-shore schools; and the importance of affect in policy in the context of globalisation. The collection closes with two methodological contributions that consider the implications of globalisation in today's critical education policy analysis. Globalisation and neo-liberalism in relation to education policy are addressed, as is the impact of the global financial crisis, the recent rise of ethno-nationalism and progressive challenges to neo-liberal hegemony. A number of chapters deal with the new spatialities instantiated by globalisation's new technology, and consider the implications for education policy. The collection is brought together in a substantial introduction that traverses the literature and research on globalisation and education policy and also situates the chapters and approaches in the collection within the field. The chapters in this book were originally published as articles in various Taylor and Francis journals. This collection focuses on education policy in the context of globalisation and draws together influential research dealing with the interplay between education policy and globalisation
